COUNTY ENGINEER FOR CITY WORK

Sonoma Trustees Ask Aldrich To Look Over Work Connecting Up State and County Highway. Peters Addresses Committee.

The Sonoma City trustees and committee on street improvement are making exhaustive inquiry into the best procedure to get the work of connecting up state and county highway under way. Last Friday night they listened to an interesting talk by J. L. Peters secretary of the Tax Payers Association who promised to look up recent legislation by which it was hoped the state and county could be appealed to for the link of permanent road to connect the state and county work and thereby relieve the municipality of the cost and responsibility of maintenance. Mr. Peters later advised the trustees that the bill providing for this aid had never been signed by the Governor and so it was still up to municipalities to put through their own work. He also stated surveys and estimates would have to be made prior to the holding of a bond election. This work he said might be done by County Engineer Aldrich who had expressed a willingness to take up the matter for any cities desirous of making permanent improvements to connect with the county highway. Peters strongly advised in favor of bonding as the most feasible means of getting our streets. He promised hearty co-operation in every way possible.

SUPERVISORS SAY NEW HIGHWAY BIDS ARE HIGH

The Board of Supervisors has received one bid for the nine miles of highway between Petaluma and Valley Ford. The bid was for $190,000 and for concrete work only.

Two bids were received for the 5 mile stretch in the section between Petaluma and Sonoma. One bid was for $133,000 and the other for $112,000. The supervisors took the bids under consideration, as they contend they are too high.

RUN OVER BY SONOMA TEACHER

Miss Burtenbach's Coupe Hits Woman Crossing Street in Santa Rosa.

Miss Theresa Kurtenbach, one of Sonoma's High School teachers, who went up to the Teachers Institute at Santa Rosa this week had an unfortunate experience Monday when the new coupe she recently purchased and which she was driving struck another school teacher, Mrs Mame Orr of Healdsburg who was crossing Mendocino avenue. Mrs. Orr became confused and stepped directly in front of Miss Kurtenbach's car which struck and passed over the unfortunate woman.

The victim of the accident was taken to the hospital and although rendered unconscious and having a gash in her head no serious results are anticipated by physicians in charge of the case.

Needless to say Miss Kurtenbach was unnerved by the accident and regretted deeply the unavoidable occurence. Every assistance possible was rendered the Healdsburg teacher by the pedagogues of her city and friends at the session. Over $150 was collected for hospital expenses and medical attention and sent to the injured teacher.

AT LAST! A REGULAR RURAL CARRIER

R. A. Dow, who has been a temporary carrier on the rural delivery mail routes for some time past and who successfully passed the examination last April has received his appointment as regular carrier which will be good news to patrons of the local postoffice service. The service was "up in the air" for many moons and at times almost distracted Postmaster Wagnon and the people who depend on the carrier service for their daily mail. Mr. Dow says he is here to stay and will stick to his job which carries with it a comfortable salary, advancing right along. There are about 1100 people served on Dow's routes and 300 mail boxes.

CHESTER MAY GET WATER PLANT

Railroad Commission at Hearing Thursday Inclined to Relieve Present Owner of Sonoma Valley Water, Light & Power Co. if El Verano Man Will Take Responsibility of Service.

Geo. L. Payne, owner of the Sonoma Valley Water, Light and Power Co., may be absolved of all responsibility in serving the people of El Verano and vicinity with water and permitted to abandon the utility to W. Chester, resident manager and owner of the stock in the company, provided Chester can show the Railroad Commission he means business and can continue the water plant as a public utility. This much was brought out at the hearing on Thursday when the Railroad Commission's Examiner, Mr. Sattenwhite, took testimony in the matter of the opplication of Mr. George Payne of the Humboldt Bank to abandon the utility which has been on the rocks for some time past and afforded the customers such indifferent service that they appealed to the Commission for relief. Payne was finally confronted with the fact that he was to be held responsible for the resumption of service and it was then that he made no bones of the fact that his water plant formerly the Lewis plant was a white elephant on his hands and such a money-eater that he would gladly give it away provided he was not held responsible for its later performances. He therefore petitioned the Railroad Commission to abandon the utility.

At the hearing on this petition here Thursday Payne was represented by Attorney Erskine of S. F. who put Bruce Weatherhead, former manager of the plant, on the stand. He testified that the actual cost of the water plant to Mr. Lewis was $38,000 and in addition a lot in Sonoma with well and pump had later been installed at a cost of $1,350. The property's riparian right extends only to Carrillo or Fowler creek, Lennox creek being in dispute. He admitted that for four months in the year there was no water from this source. The well in Sonoma supplemented the hill supply.

Weatherhead testified that the tank at El Verano which he took down when he left the employ of the company and the lack of which was held responsible for water shortage, was in realty a pressure breaker, as when the reservoir was full the naturally high pressure was impracticable for domestic use and fire protection as it would burst pipes.

When asked if the present reservoir were filled, it would carry customers through the summer, he said engineers views on this differed owing to the evaporation leakage and uncertain source of supply. He set forth that the reservoir would have to be excavated and concreted, new pipe put in etc. and that if his property and the former supply were purchased by the present servers of water it would cost them about $1,250 more. Meters would also have to be installed. He gave it as his opinion that customers would not stand for more than $2.00 a month minimum for water, although $5.00 a month should be the charge with present day cost of operation. He gave it as his opinion that the value of the water company's land was practically nothing.

Attorney Erskine testified as to the amount of taxes paid for redemption of the property by Mr. Payne, over $1100 on county taxes and several hundred in the city of Sonoma.

F. T. Duhring testified that the hill land owned by the company and where the reservoir is situated might be worth $500 at the most.

Engineer Faude of the Commission asked how El Veranoans might be supplied with water and R. R. Emparan of the Sonoma City Water Works Co. testified that he thought they would have to dig wells as his company could not supply El Verano. Emparan testified that the Sonoma Company had taken over 26 customers of the Lewis system in Sonoma.

W. Chester declared that he had no present customers in Sonoma, 25 in El Verano and 30 getting limited service. Six former patrons were getting no service. He said the service failed about May 1918 and that customers would not pay more than a $2.00 minimum. About 12 former users of Yulupa water have sunk wells since the shortage. Chester also testified as to the source of water supply from the creeks and said after the tank was taken by Bruce Weatherhead he found it impracticable to pump water because there was no storage and he could not pump water day and night. He said future utility of plant to serve El Verano lay in improvements such as excavating and concreting the present reservoir, putting in new pipe and a 25000 gallon tank. He said he was prepared to rehabilitate it and had $10,000 to proceed.

Attorney Erskine then went on record as being favorable to an arrangement whereby Chester would be put in full possession of the plant and property, given a deed to same and become sole owner of the "white elephant" if Geo. L. Payne would be relieved of all further and future responsibility in the matter.

The hearing went over until Tuesday at 2 p. m. when in San Francisco the joint application of Payne and Chester to shift responsibility and property will be further gone into At that time Chester will be called upon to make a satisfactory showing as to his ability to rehabilitate the plant and Payne will further seek to justify his position in the matter.

CHAS. POTTER AND PARTY RETURN FROM MOTOR TRIP SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Potter, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Cassidy and Mrs. Al Stein returned home last Friday after a fine motor tour to Southern California. Charley at the wheel of his fine Hudson Six made the trip without mishap of any kind and took the sight seers through all the points of interest enroute.

The party visited Catalina Island, Tia Juana Mexico, San Diego and spent five days in Los Angeles where Mrs. Stein formerly resided and where she visited Mr. Stein's mother.

Good weather was encountered everywhere from the time the Sonomans left the rain behind at Santa Barbara going down, until their return.

A thrill was afforded on the last lap of the journey when a "horrid" speed cop stopped the Potter car near San Rafael and almost pinched them. After a stern warning they were permitted to resume their homeward trip, arriving here about 8:30 Friday night.

CLUB PAYS OFF $1,000 MORTGAGE

Proceeds From Harvest Carnival Substantial Help Toward Sonoma Valley Woman's Clubhouse Debt.

Through the recent Harvest Carnival the mortgage on the clubhouse of the Sonoma Valley Woman's club has been reduced by $1,000. That amount was voted to apply on the $2200 debt on the building, at the meeting last Friday aftternoon when announcement was made of the splendid success of the carnival. The net proceeds were over $1078, some tickets and donations being yet unreported.

The clubhouse was completed about the time the war broke out and was quite an undertaking so the ladies are much elated over the success of the Harvest Carnival and the substantial lift it has given them on their efforts to get out of debt. The Carnival will be an annual event if present plans are carried out.

The Womans Club was organized about 20 years ago and through its efforts much money has been made and donated to civic improvement work. This work will be resumed as soon as the clubhouse debt is cleared.

HELEN WEISE LAID TO REST

Victim of Sad Accident Buried Sunday and Many Friends of Family Attend Funeral.

Helen Weise, young daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. J. H. Weise of Glen Ellen, who met a sad death last week when run over by an S. P. train on the Weise ranch was tenderely laid to rest Sunday afternoon. Impressive services were conducted at the Supervisor's home prior to the church services at 2:30 p. m., for many neighbors and friends gathered there to offer words of condolence and sympathy to the family in their great trouble. Rev. Father Byrne officiated and spoke words of comfort and hope after which the handsome white casket was placed in the auto hearse by the young men pall bearers among whom were the two brothers of deceased. The remains followed by a large cortege of relatives and friends were conveyed to St. Francis church and here many more acquaintances awaited the sad processional and entered the sacred edifice where the last sad rites of the church were impressively conducted by Father Byrne. Sacred music was rendered by Fanny E. Ryan of San Francisco who sang "Face to Face" and "Flee as a Bird." The flower laden casket was then carried from the church and the funeral party proceeded to Mountain cemetery where all that was mortal of Helen Weise was laid to rest.

The Dairy Cow To The Fore

THE DAIRY COW is becoming a more important factor each year and since she is the source of much wealth and much health in the nation ,it is not to be wondered at. Exhibitions like the National Dairy Show this month at Chicago, should lead to better herds and better understanding of feeding and kindred problems. The "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement was given publicity and impetus at the big national gathering and should transfer some of the feverish interest now manifest on makes of automobiles and tractors to the more important subject of pure bred sires for our herds. Money expended in this direction will roll up wealth for the country and is absolutely constructive.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture participated in the National Dairy Show, and in reviewing the part played by the department in the event, a weekly review said: "One of the most interesting of the Dairy Division exhibits will show the exact amount and kinds of food required to keep a cow for one year. A farm scene will show a hay stack and a fodder rick, containing the necessary amounts of dry forage; a silo, 5 feet in diameter and 11 feet high, which will hold the silage necessary for the cow; and the large pile of ear corn and the mill feed in sacks which the cow will eat during the 12 months. Furthermore, a part of the area will be sodded to illustrate the amount of pasturage necessary to maintain the cow. A huge milk bottle 4½ feet wide and 9 feet high, with a capacity of 6,000 pounds of milk, will be used to illustrate the cow's production. To complete the picture a cow and calf of the type which would consume the feed and convert it into the amount of milk exhibited, will be on hand. The amounts of feed and milk supplied are actual averages of results obtained by the Dairy Division from practical tests with dairy farmers in northern Indiana. A small milk house, wherein will be demonstrated the proper methods of cooling milk, is also part of this feature."

What Every Official Should Know

WITH THE WIDE range of topics and experienced personnel of speakers at the convention of California Municipalities in Riverside this month, it would seem that the many representatives of our cities should return home steeped in lore and effulgent with bright ideas on the various angles of municipal management. There can be no question but that the conventions have taught a lot of our officials how to spend money. They all seem to be very apt scholars at that from the statistics of expenditures of municipalities recently compiled, but the really vital lessons of efficient management and judicious expenditure of funds available, appears negligible. "How To Increase Municipal Revenues" is a good topic, but how best to expend the increase, and the average, would be a better one

Finances of Government, as to be discussed by State Controller Chambers will no doubt be enlightening and he will point out the time when the principal service of cities was to fill up chuck holes and maintain order, whereas now people demand municipal playgrounds, swimming baths, visiting nurses, hard service pavements, scientific sewage disposal etc. Some straight from the shoulder advice on just how far the people should be indulged and how far cities of various classes should go, would be very timely.

The High Cost of government is playing quite as much havoc with our pocket books as living itself and directly or indirectly effects everyone.

To Show Their Brotherly Love

ONE OF THE STRONGEST UNITS, both in numbers and effectiveness in the ranks of the great volunteer army that will be on the firing line in the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, is being mustered into service by the fraternal organizations of California, Arizona, and Nevada, comprising the Pacific Division of the American Red Cross, according to a statement issued by division headquarters at San Francisco.

In response to requests that they appoint committees of three or more members to co-operate with the Pacific Division and with local chapters of the Red Cross, more than fifteen hundred lodges of the various orders, including women's auxiliaries, such as the Rebekahs and Eastern Star, have already notified division headquarters of the appointment of such committees. It is expected that, by the time the national enrollment of members of the Red Cross for 1920 is launched, fully two thousand lodges will have committees actively at work among the members in the states of the Pacific Division.

The Unpardonable Sin

EDITOR OLMSTED of the Petaluma Argus continues to feel outraged at the manner in which Republicans were disfranchised by Johnson manipulationof politics in this state and he does not hesitate to put himself on record as regards Johnson's aspirations for the presidency as follows:

"Senator Johnson's political fate hangs in the balance. If he wins his fight to defeat the treaty, or to have it substantially amended, it will be hard to beat him for the presidential nomination of some party in 1920. We say "some party" advisedly, for it is well known that the California senator is opposed to government by parties and that he would just as soon accept the nomination of the Democratic as of the Republican party, of which he is nominally a member. His record in California proves that. During his reign as governor of this state, he caused to be enacted a primary law that would have put all political parties out of business had it not been held up by referendum and defeated overwhelmingly by the people. And just to show the people who was running the state and his contempt for their judgment, he summoned the legislature in special session and secured the enactment of another non-partisan law even more objectionable than the one the people had repudiated. Nor is that all. He so worded his call for the special session that the legislature could not enact the kind of law the people had declared, by their votes at the polls, they wanted. Some people may want to elevate a man of that character to the presidency. We do NOT.

License End Dies Hard

WE SHOULD THINK that uplift and reform would keel over with sheer horrification at the apparent inconsistency of the government's handling of the wine situation in the particular instance where the Treasury department makes imperative all "declarations of intention" to manufacture wine for family use, at the same time blandly acknowledging that the enforcement of the war-time prohibition act will go on just the same, the compliance with the revenue exaction protecting nobody. To grab off revenue upon something that is against the law to manufacture, looks pretty much as though the tax gatherer would be a party to this new and heinous "crime" of wine making. We acknowledge the country needs the revenue and probably the brains in that quarter of our governing body realize it more than those sanctimonious senators and rabid representatives at Washington who are determined to make "criminals" of our hitherto honorable wine makers, but the effrontery of the revenue men to proceed with their usual sang froid in the face of the penalty for violations of the prohibition law is both amusing and amazing. The following is the cool statement of facts as set forth in a letter from the office of the collector of revenue:

Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, Office of the Collector, First District of California, San Francisco, October 6, 1919.

C. E. Humbert, Cloverdale, Calif. Dear Sir:—This office has just received instructions from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to accept "Declarations of Intention to Manufacture Wine for Family Use." It must be understood that this is not granting permission to produce such wine or any wine for beverage purposes, but those who do produce wine for family use in quantities not to exceed 200 gallons, will be allowed no exemption unless such "Declaration of Intention" is filed. The enforcement of the war-time prohibition act is vested in the Department of Justice, and this office is concerned only in the collection of revenue which may be due on wine, even though it be manufactured contrary to law. All persons filing "Declaration of Intention" should be instructed that so doing grants them no privileges nor immunity from prosecution for the violation of the prohibition law. Respectfully, JUSTUS S. WARDELL, Collector

The government has been piously panned for ever tolerating the licensed saloon and licensed liquors but evidently the license end of the whole business is going to hang on, until the last dog is hung and the last drop of juice to ooze from a wine grape has gone to Jamshyd's happy hunting ground.

Editor Index-Tribune:
Dear Sir:

The Decenpial Census is to be taken in January, beginning on the 22 and it will last from two to four weeks. All those who desire positions as enumerators must have their applications in to me by the 20th of October. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 70 years, who is a citizen of the United States can qualify. An enumerator can easily earn from FIVE to SEVEN DOLLARS per day and it will be pleasant and interestnig work.

I desire especially to call your attention to the fact that all ex-service men will be given preference when it comes to the selection of enumerators for this work.

I have no other means of bringing this matter to the attention of the public except through the local papers. Therefore, I am asking you to give this matter all the publicity that you can. By doing this you are assisting your own country and district as the census cannot be taken unless I have enough enumerators.

Thanking you for your co-operation, I remain,

JAMES BAINES TO BE CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

James Baines, one of Sonoma Valley's substantial citizens and good boosters has thrown his hat into the political ring, and will be a candidate for Supervisor from this district at the next election. Mr. Baines declares that he wants to see this section of Sonoma county make a progress to which its superior advantages entitle it and says he has grown tired waiting for the development which he thinks is possible, and so has decided to take a hand in the game himself. The prominent El Verano - Boyes Springs business man has come out at the solicitation of his many friends who have long known his good ideas and plans for this district's development and are desirous of seeing Jim at the helm where he can "make good."

Mr. Baines is a big property owner and is well to do. He enters the political arena after due consideration and believes he will be able to render good service to this district. He has done much good work in the past on public projects and also been responsible for much of the big development in the vicinity of Boyes Springs. He is one of the directors of the new auto bus line between Boyes Springs and San Rafael.

Jim should be a good campaigner and when the time comes will no doubt give all comers an interesting race in the various precincts of this district.

Chas. Guidi of Kenwood took a trip to Mendocino county this week where he visited friends and relatives Guidiville in the above county is named after this prominent resident of Sonoma valley.

Mrs. Alma Koeboom has been over to Novato on a visit to old friends.

HIRAM JOHNSON POLITICAL MACHINE GETS BUSY AT SANTA ROSA

The Hiram Johnson political machine got up steam at Santa Rosa Monday, and after getting the signatures of a number of the Senator's appointees and ex-appointees sent a wire to Senators Johnson and Phelan at Washington urging them to oppose the League of Nations covenant.

The personnel of signers to the telegram are Republicans of various complexions, many of them in the past having laid stress on their Supra idealism and professing to be dyed-in the-wool, stamped on the cork progressives with love of humanity and the brother hood of man taking precedent over all things. Their present provincial and purely political plea puzzles.

It is not known just what the signers political ambitions are but by becoming tails to the Johnson kite and trying to chuck the dove of peace into no mans land, it looks like their chances to become cabinet officers are destined for the discard.

The message supporting Senator Johnson in his opposition to the League of Nations covenant, and which was forwarded to Washington as above stated, is as follows:

Santa Rosa, Calif., Oct. 13, 1919.

Hon. Hiram W. Johnson and Hon. Jas. D. Phelan, Washington, D. C.

The undersigned citizens of California earnestly request that you oppose the adoption of the League of Nations as now proposed, and that the same be not ratified, unless with proper amendment and reservation, or both, insuring to us equal representation and without surrender of our constitutional independence.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE OF 1919 WAS INSTRUCTIVE SESSION

The teachers of Sonoma Valley have been in attendance on the 55th session of the Sonoma County Teachers Institute at Santa Rosa three days this week and report an instructive session. Community service and Americanism were strong notes in the newer education as voiced by leading speakers.

Among the interesting talks listened to were those of Prof. Bruce Painter, now of Petaluma, Prof. L. E Stenquist of Sonoma on "School Fairs;" Edna Jensen, "The Advisability of Cafeterias in Schools"; "Physical Training," Prof. L. H. Golton; "The Teaching of Oral Expression," Shirley Ward; "Division of the Art Course," Emilie Poppe.

Prof. Golton and Principal J. F. Prestwood were on the Committee on Resolutions this year.

A. J. Cloud, assistant superintendent of schools of San Francisco, gave a splendid talk on the needs of a Junior High School to make for a better transition in the period between Grammar and High School, particularly now that we have compulsory education for older pupils.

Mr. Cloud said in part "This is an era of rapid change. Our system of education must change to keep pace with the new demands upon it. Whither we are going we do not know but we are going somewhere and going mighty fast."

The change he would make in our school system to meet the need of the hour woud be to establish a Junior school in every district.

This is a matter in which the people of the S. V. U. H. S. district should be interested. Such a school is much needed in the valley. It would relieve the present congestion in the grammar and high schools in the town by taking from them the pupils of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. It would relieve the teachers of the rural schools of the two upper grades and thus give them more time to devote to the children in the lower grades. It would result in many advantages to the pupils themselves.

Mr. Cloud summarized these advantages as follows:

1. The pupils would have the advantage of many teachers, all specialists.

2. They would have an opportunity to work more independently and with less supervision. The change from the grammar to the high school method of work would be made here.

3. New subject matter, such as science and modern languages would be within reach of pupils of these grades—subjects which can not be offered them in the grammar school.

4. More choice of courses would be theirs.

5. Children of exceptional ability would have a chance to advance more rapidly than they can under present conditions.

The new Compulsory Education bill compelling all pupils to remain in school until they are sixteen renders it absolutely necessary that we make some provision for taking carer of them in our grammar and high school and giving them work especially adapted to their needs.

In the Sonoma valley it would have the very desirable result of giving all the pupils a like preparation and an even start in the high school work. At present this is impossible owing to the limited time the teachers in the rural schools have to give to the pupils in the seventh and eighth grades.

The Institute reports brought out the fact that whereas Sonoma raised its High School teachers salaries to $1300 - $1350, other schools raised to $1600 - $1800. Raises of 10 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent were common but the cost of living went up 103 per cent, such at least were the figures offered by institute speakers.

100 GALLONS OF WINE HIS LOOT

Chas. De Molli and Joe Locgarotte are in the "jug" at Santa Rosa following the disappearance of 100 gallons of choice wine from the Cassani winery at Mt. Olivet. De Molli was a former employee and had been discharged and with his disappearance from the vicinity of Mt. Olivet also disappeared the wine. It was traced to Bocca's resort near Glen Ellen by the eagle eyed sheriff Jim Petray and his force and Deputy Sheriff Barnes went to arrest De Molli and a companion. The former submitted to the nippers but Locgarotte put up a fight and it is alleged he pulled a rifle on the Deputy Sheriff. The officer sent for help and Locgarotte was finally taken into custody in the vicinity of Glen Ellen. The wine may be held by the authorities for evidence.

Among the new members of the Sonoma Valley Womans Club is Mrs. Chas. Van Damme, whose husband, the president of the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry Company recently purchased the Rochat place.

Mrs. W. H. Hanger has been ill with a severe cold but is now thoroughly convalescent.

TO RESUME "SUN TIME" ON SUNDAY, OCTOBER 26

The repeal of the daylight saving law will be effective on Sunday, October 26. The clocks will be turned back one hour and the nation will revert to the old basis of time.

This means great relief to mothers and to children attending school.

The daylight saving has been a hardship to all concerned, and one of the minor cruelties of war conditions. We hope the measurement of time, according to "Old Sol" will not be meddled with again.

New fangled things do not appeal to us overmuch, especially when they interfere with natural law. -Ukiah Times-Journal.

SONOMA'S NEW STORE OPENS TO-DAY

Al Stein's new store in the Keifer building formally opens to-day and the proprietor invites Sonoma Valley residents and visitors to call in and see his attractive line of stationery, books, school supplies, sheet music and novelties. Mr. Stein has an up-to-date stock and a line that fills a long felt want in Sonoma's shopping district. He will be found to be a most courteous and obliging merchant and enters the local business field with many good wishes for success and prosperity from a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

Holiday toys are coming in daily to supplement Mr. Stein's stock and next spring photography is to be a specialty at the new shop.

REGISTERED TITLES UNDER TORRENS ACT

Among those seeking registration of land titles under the Torrens Act last week in Santa Rosa were Sam Lewis to 39.75 acres of land near Sonoma and E. M. Cutter to 35.44 acres near Sonoma. The Lewis acreage had a good crop of Zinfadels this year which brought a good price from local buyers. The Cutter place is a productive orchard.
